David Borden

David Borden is a leader in his community and in the state on several environmental fronts. As a state legislator, he sponsored legislation to promote the use of biodiesel in New Hampshire, authored and sponsored bills to allow towns to establish local energy commissions and municipal financing for energy efficiency and renewable energy. David chairs the Municipal Energy Working Group of the EESE Board.

Among the pieces of legislation sponsored in 2010 by David Borden and passed by the NH Senate are bills: permitting utilities to establish loan programs for owners of residential and business property engaging in renewable energy and energy efficiency projects; requiring the governor's office of energy and planning and the board of home inspectors to develop a document relative to home energy efficiency for home buyers; allowing municipalities to establish energy efficiency and clean energy districts.
