

DR. MARK C TREXLER
Managing Director
Global Consulting Services, EcoSecurities

Mark C. Trexler, Managing Director of Global Consulting Services, EcoSecurities, was until recently President of Trexler Climate + Energy Services, Inc. (TC+ES), an energy and environmental consulting firm founded in 1991 and specializing in the provision of policy, strategic, and project-related climate change services to the private sector.

As Director of Global Consulting Services, EcoSecurities, Dr. Trexler oversees a team of more than 20 climate change and project experts in Portland, Oxford, and The Hague. The team is involved in corporate strategic planning, GHG market forecasting, project development for voluntary and Kyoto markets, and the development of emissions trading programs.

Private-sector clients have included global energy companies such as Chevron, PacifiCorp, Southern California Edison, TransAlta, AES Corp., J-Power, and Statoil, and consumer products companies such as Nike and Stonyfield Farm. Dr. Trexler has also worked with national and international groups and agencies including The Nature Conservancy, the United Nations Development Programme, and the Global Environment Facility.

Dr. Trexler has published extensively on issues related to climate change mitigation, has served as a lead author for the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, and is a member of the editorial board of Mitigation and Adaptation Strategies, a leading climate journal. Prior to establishing TC+ES, Dr. Trexler was with the World Resources Institute in Washington, DC, where he managed technical analysis of the first carbon mitigation projects pursued by U.S. companies. He also has worked extensively on energy policy issues such as power plant siting, technology R&D policy, and efficiency standards.

Dr. Trexler earned his M.P.P. in 1982 and his PhD in 1990 from the Graduate School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley.
